

2023 Jardineros Program Schedule

Date	Program	Presenter	Coordinator	Description for 2023 Yearbook
11-Jan	The Essence of Storytelling	Liz Mangual and Bob Kanegis	Dianna Stone	Bob Kanegis and Liz Mangual have been telling stories in NM for over 25 years, and they capture a whole range of human experience from funny and foolish to serious and mysterious. They will tell stories and discuss the art of storytelling with our members.
1-Feb	Valle de Oro - A Wildlife Refuge in Our Own Backyard	Katie Dix	Lisa Avila	Katie Dix, Executive Director of the Friends of the Valle de Oro National Wildlife Refuge, in south Albuquerque, will speak about the refuge, its new visitor center, volunteer opportunities and how Valle de Oro provides the community with a link to the past while preserving the present for the future.
1-Mar	Sandoval County Fire Dept K9 Search and Rescue – Dogs Protecting Our Community	Shannon Farrell	Lisa Avila	Shannon Farrell is Lieutenant of Public Health and Safety Outreach for the Sandoval County Fire Department. Shannon will talk about tracking/trailing dogs for live search and rescue, as well as assisting residents in the community before they have to call 911 through the Community Medicine Program.
5-Apr	Climbing Mount Everest	Dr. Mike Murphy	Dianna Stone	Dr Michael Murphy has climbed the world's tallest mountain, Mount Everest. The climb to the altitude of 29,029 feet is very risky and costly. Dr. Murphy will share his experiences, show pictures, and convey the risks and rewards associated with this epic climb.
3-May	The Cultural Roots and History of Flamenco	Deanna Encinias	Dianna Stone	Deanna Encinias teaches Flamenco at Tierra Adentro, the New Mexico School of Academics, Art and Artesanía , and will convey the cultural roots and history of Flamenco. Then, along with her students, she will demonstrate the dance, and involve audience members in one of the dances.

7-Jun	Appraising Fine Art, Furnishings and Antiques	Ellen Castrone	Diane Shepard	Ellen Castrone is an Associate Candidate with the Appraisers Association of America and Member of the International Society of Appraisers. She will discuss the process of valuing fine and decorative arts.
12-Jul	Land and Wildlife Preservation on the Santa Ana Pueblo	Glenn Harper	Dianna Stone	Glenn Harper is the range and wildlife division manager at Santa Ana Pueblo or Tamaya. His presentation will focus on the incredible work done by the Pueblo to restore and preserve the wildlife of the area.
2-Aug	Reiki – The Japanese Art of Stress Reduction and Relaxation	January Harper	Lisa Avila	January Harper has a Reiki clinic in the Homesteads in Placitas. She is a Reiki II practitioner, and will talk about the history of Reiki, its many benefits and how it works.
6-Sep	Join a Drum Circle	Peter Colton	Dianna Stone	Peter Colton, of Placitas, will tell us about the drum circle and getting in tune with one's consciousness and the spirit of others. He will conduct a drum circle inviting everyone to participate. The drum circle will be held outside, and we ask members bring a hand-drum, a metal bowl or pot and wooden spoon, or other handheld percussion instruments.
4-Oct	Remembering Dawson	Nick Pappas	Janice Grann	Nick Pappas, a former Albuquerque Journal editor will share his fascination with the New Mexico coal town of Dawson. All that remains of this once thriving town northeast of Cimarron is a cemetery with nearly 400 white crosses – the result of two disastrous mining explosions in the early 1900s. Mr Pappas will fill in the details of this part of our state's history.
1-Nov	Show Your Stuff		Janice Grann	Jardineros members will be displaying and selling their unique artisan wares. This is a wonderful opportunity to do some holiday shopping and maybe even buy something for yourself.

6-Dec	Holiday Buffet and Party		Jardineros Board of Directors	Our December meeting provides an occasion to gather and celebrate the holiday season. Come and enjoy delicious delicacies made by our Board of Directors. The Outstanding Service Award for 2023 will also be awarded. Don't miss this annual event!